2. Game overview

2.1. Genre

Single Player Game

Action and Adventure

The gameplay contains a lot of thrilling adventures that keep the players hooked and on the edge of their seats.

2.2. Target Audience

Teenagers and young Adults (13+)

Players who appreciate both a compelling story and a fun to play but hard to master mechanics, without including adult visuals like gore

3. Characters

3.1. Main Character

3.1.1 No.7

Personality:

No.7 is the newest member of the friend group, who quickly became a part of the group unexpectedly. He is introverted and quiet at first but once he feels more comfortable, a more energetic and outgoing side of him shows. His friends like to drag him along in their quite risky adventures, which he might be hesitant about at first, but he always tags along in the end as he has grown to enjoy spending time with them.

Appearance (Drawn by Mayan):

Abilities:

No.7 copies the powers/abilities of his friends. Each level/act is dedicated to one of the other 6 members so in each level, No.7 will copy that character's ability to use throughout that level only.

Role:

No.7's role is to rescue all his friends from the building they are trapped in by defeating enemies, collecting the artifact in each act and helping them overcome their fears (by clearing the act from enemies so they can pass through till the end of the act) as each act is associated with the fears of the 6 other members.

3.2. Sub Characters

3.2.1. Mallow (Mayan)

Personality:

Mallow is the “bipolar” member of the group. She has 2 sides to her personality where, for a moment, she can be the busiest and the most serious person, all under the name of “I’m trying to be more productive and responsible”. But that is not always the case as she also has a softer, childish side to her personality, shown only around the friend group. She laughs at almost everything, gets excited easily and starts jumping like a kangaroo and she also has a huge sweet tooth, especially for her undying love for marshmallows.

Appearance (Drawn by Mayan):

She is known for having a simpler style of clothing, wavy but sometimes messy dark brown hair and her black glasses or otherwise, she will be blind without them.

Abilities:

Mallow’s abilities will revolve around marshmallows. As of now, she has one ability where she shoots marshmallow projectiles, which may not seem the strongest if shot individually, but she can shoot multiple marshmallows rapidly at the same time, causing more damage.

Role:

Mallow’s role is a sub character in her own act. At the start of her act, No.7 meets her in the building where she is trapped in. Through this interaction, No.7 copies her marshmallow-based ability, which he uses to progress through the level and defeat Mallow’s act boss. Mallow functions as an NPC sub character who represents the theme of her act, while No.7 works to free her and collect the artifact tied to her act.

3.2.2. Clouden (Marwan Ahmed)

Personality:

Clouden is a laid-back and chill “grandpa” (he’s the oldest) member of the group. He enjoys watching shows, online shopping, going on his daily matcha run every morning and cruising around in his car while vibing to music. But unfortunately, all these activities revolve around one bad habit, which is his smoking addiction.

Appearance (Drawn by Mayan):

He has an addiction to local brand streetwear and is always seen rocking his signature mullet, along with metal frame glasses.

Abilities:

Clouden’s abilities revolve around smoke. For one of his abilities, he shoots smoke projectiles at enemies which damages them if hit by them and for his other ability, he creates a smoke cloud, that when enemies are within the area of that cloud, they will be damaged until the smoke cloud goes away or if they move away from the smoke cloud zone.

Role:

Clouden’s role is a sub character in his own act. At the start of his act, No.7 meets him in the building where he is trapped in. Through this interaction, No.7 copies Echo’s smoke-based ability, which he uses to progress through the level and defeat Clouden’s act boss. Clouden functions as an NPC sub-character who represents the theme of his act, while No.7 works to free him and collect the artifact tied to his act.

3.2.3. Echo (Mohamed Waleed)

Personality:

Echo is the tech guy of the group, from top students of the group and the loudest, always yapping on nerdy topics like cars, planes and games with a voice that rose louder than a whale's call.

Appearance (Drawn by Habiba):

Echo is a geek that hides behind a pair of tinted glasses, isolated from the world by his black Galaxy Buds that he partially hid in his ear and under his mid length curly hair.

Abilities:

He can create echo waves that damage enemies by blasting their ears.

Role:

Echo's role is a sub character in his own act. At the start of his act, No.7 meets him in the building where he is trapped in. Through this interaction, No.7 copies Echo's echo-based ability, which he uses to progress through the level and defeat Echo's act boss. Echo functions as an NPC sub-character who represents the theme of his act, while No.7 works to free him and collect the artifact tied to his act.

3.2.4. Blazzy (Marwan Abodahab)

Personality:

If you don't know Blazzy, you might see him as an alpha male or someone who gives off a "don't talk to me" vibe, but the rest of the group suffers whenever they are at campus because of how social Blazzy is. Knowing and talking to every single soul while the rest of the group waits patiently for the social butterfly to finish socializing. Adding to this adventurous personality, he likes to mix things and we are talking here about food and chemicals, creating bombs with both inputs!

Appearance (Drawn by Habiba):

Always wearing his everyday shirts that have "Unemployed", "Nothing" or whatever self-hated based shirt that Blazzy or his brother own, with a washed cap to match his style and toned skin that suit his "thug" style. And he is also a nigger, a lovely one at that.

Abilities:

Throw bombs and blasts that blow the enemies' minds off!

Role:

Blazzy's role is a sub character in his own act. At the start of his act, No.7 meets him in the building where he is trapped in. Through this interaction, No.7 copies Blazzy's bomb-based ability, which he uses to progress through the level and defeat Blazzy's act boss. Blazzy functions as an NPC sub-character who represents the theme of his act, while No.7 works to free him and collect the artifact tied to his act.

3.2.5. Racci (Habiba Harfoosh)

Personality:

The chaotic raccoon of the group, with undiagnosed autism and achieved the highest score in dyslexia test. Racci is the troublemaker of the group, one look and she's on the ground and the other she is on the shelf or under the table or randomly hitting one of the guys or tripping over a wire and getting her head pumped like a careless child. She has a geek for electronics, networks, martial arts, and music that can blast anyone's head, and maybe that's why the group never lets her take the playlist.

Appearance (Drawn by Habiba):

Racci's everyday shirt mostly is gray colored with jeans and marked by her iconic messy and "electrified" hair.

Abilities:

Racci can create and manipulate electricity, like an unstable wire.

Role:

Racci's role is a sub character in her own act. At the start of her act, No.7 meets her in the building where she is trapped in. Through this interaction, No.7 copies her electricity-based ability, which he uses to progress through the level and defeat Racci's act boss. Racci functions as an NPC sub character who represents the theme of her act, while No.7 works to free her and collect the artifact tied to her act.

3.2.6. Aira (Abdelaziz)

Personality:

Aira is the god father of the group, making sure that his kids “other group members” are safe, but that doesn't mean he doesn't also enjoy some chaos within their adventures, but also top priority of looking out for everyone. He carries a calm, analytical nature but blends it with emotional depth and warmth when it comes to the people he cares about. He balances logic and loyalty; he thinks things through, but he never loses his heart in the process. He enjoys networks, vintage technology, and a longing need for a cup of Karak.

Appearance (Drawn by Abdelaziz):

He rocks his (US) shirt that has been worn more than anything due to its unique design, and his oversized jeans that double as a utility pack.

Abilities:

Spirit Manipulation, Aira can create, shape and manipulate spirits, supernatural and conscious beings, and he can even project himself through those spirits.

Role: NPC

3.3. Enemies

There are 3 types of enemies:

- 1) Regular enemies (Act enemies)
- 2) Act boss (End of act boss)
- 3) Final boss (End of the game boss)

3.3.1. Regular enemies (Act enemies)

They are the smaller enemies that appear throughout the level. They require less damage as they have lower health.

Regular enemy example: Oziac

Personality:

Oziac is a corrupted soul that lived in the multiverse for thousands of years, got there searching for his lost lover and ended up losing himself, turning into a demonic monster that kills anyone that is not her.

Appearance: (AI-Generated)

Demonic appearance with black coated skin.

Abilities:

Oziac damages the player by decay when close to it.

3.3.2. Act boss (End of act boss)

They are boss enemies that require more damage as they have higher health and appear at the end of the act, carrying one of the artifacts needed and is acquired after defeating that boss. In addition, defeating the boss frees the sub character (member of the friend group depending on the act) from the building they were trapped in.

3.3.3. Final boss (End of the game boss)

The last boss faced, who is the strongest out of all enemies in the game, appears after all six members of the friend group are saved. This boss carries the seventh and final artifact needed.

4. Formal elements

4.1. Mechanics

4.1.1 Player interaction pattern: How do players compete & collaborate:

It's a single player versus Environment (PVE) where the player plays as No.7 the main character searching for his lost friends while exploring and solving the puzzle of the twisted Multiverse of the blue while fighting ai enemy throughout the levels and collecting artifacts dropped by the mini bosses and by the end finding each friend to progress through the story act.

4.1.2 Goals: Main Goal(s) of the game in addition to its objectives (primary/ auxiliary game objectives).

Main Goal(s):

- No.7's goal is to traverse the twisted version of the university he once knew, finding and saving his friends after they travelled through the mysterious door and lost each other and with a huge time stretch, who knows how long they've been there. Also, must overcome the emotional manifestations of each friend that he sets out to save.
- However, the main goal of the plot is to retrieve the missing artifacts to help everyone escape from the twisted world, trying to survive among the familiar and unfamiliar surroundings, with unknown enemies lurking around every corner.

Primary Objectives:

Act 5: Break The Quiet, Saving Racci

After finding and rescuing Blazzy No.7 head to the faculty of informatics and computer science to find Racci and save her from the electrified halls of the faculty and navigate through the building to find the missing artifact.

Act 6: Gentle Storm, Saving Mallow

After finding and rescuing Racci, No.7 head to the faculty of arts and humanities to find Mallow and save her from the stormy halls of the faculty and navigate through the building to find the missing artifact.

Act 7: Heart of Corruption, Escaping the Twisted World

After finding everyone, and retrieving the missing artifacts, No.7 then makes his way to the library, to reunite with his friends once again, and with all the artifacts in hand, there is only one artifact missing, which he then goes in the library to fight alone against the final boss, which was hard, but No.7 ends up defeating him and getting the last artifact, then they make their way down to the same door that led them here first, then they escape this corrupted world.

Auxiliary Objectives:

- Solve puzzles

4.1.3 Rules: What can and can't players do to achieve their goals.

Can do:

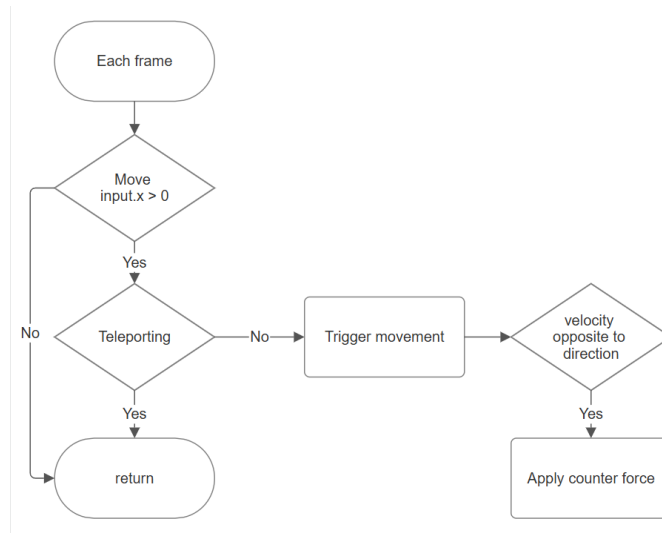

- Player can use powers he obtained from each act individually.
- Player can explore levels using a side-to-side movement system.
- Player can interact with a variety of different objects which result in different outcomes. For example, NPC's, signs, buttons, puzzles.
- During combat, player can use his abilities to damage enemies and defeat them.
- Player can heal bandages.
- Player can heal passively.

Can't Do:

- Player cannot access acts if the previous act isn't completed.
- The player cannot access other scenes while in combat.
- The player cannot spam abilities and must wait for cooldown.
- On defeat, the player returns to nearest checkpoint.

4.1.4. Actions and Interactions

Movement mechanics

Purpose: Allows the player to move left and right.

Description: The player can move from side to side using precise movement. The player moves in the direction of the input action and when the player stops or moves in the other direction a counter force is applied in the opposite direction to make the movement smooth yet quick.

Inputs: A and D, Left and Right arrows, Gamepad Left stick.

Conditions:

- Not Teleporting.

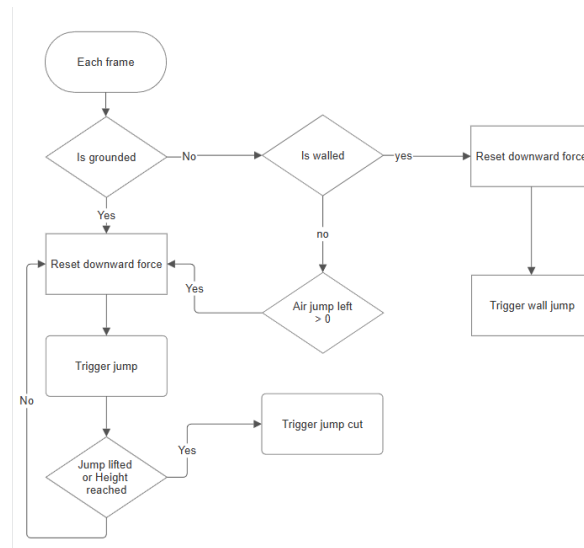

System Behavior:

- A force is applied in the direction of the player input that gets calculated according to the player's current velocity.
- A Counter force is applied in the opposite direction to make the transition from one side to the other smooth yet quick.

Parameters:

- Run max speed: the maximum speed that the player will reach (Default: 10).
- Run Acceleration: The acceleration factor for reaching the speed (Default: 5).
- Run Deceleration: The deceleration factor for lowering the speed (Default: 10).
- Acceleration in Air: The acceleration fraction the run acceleration in air (Default: 0.5).
- Deceleration in Air: The deceleration fraction the run acceleration in air (Default: 0.5).

Jumping mechanics

Vertical jump

Purpose: Gives the player the ability to avoid danger and reach vertical platforms.

Description: The jumping is made using physics-based laws and newton's kinematic motion equation where jump force is adjusted according to the height of the jump as the player can control how high he can jump by changing how long he presses the jump button. The player can trigger a half jump by just pressing on the jump button quickly, but holding the jump button triggers a full jump, and if the player's y velocity is more or less than 0 the velocity.y gets set to zero before starting the jump. Jumping requires the player to be grounded or if enabled the player can trigger an air jump which uses the same mechanic as the ground jump.

Inputs: Keyboard Space or Gamepad button A.

Conditions:

- For Ground jump the player must be grounded.
- For Air jumps the player must have not used his air jump.

System Behavior:

- A jump force calculated according to how far the player is from the target height is applied.
- Downward force is applied when the player has not reached its target height or not pressing jump.
- The player's downward force is rest before the jump.

Parameters:

- Jump Height: Float value that can be modified and forces are calculated accordingly (default: 1.5).
- Air jump: Can be turned on or off according to the level (default: false).
- Jump Cut: Changes the gravity value when lifting of the jump button (default: 2).
- Extra Jumps: this controls how many air jumps the player can do (default: 1).

Wall Jumping mechanic

Purpose: Allows the player to jump between walls in order to go up.

Description: The player can jump from any wall also using the jump key. This mechanic also uses a derived version of newton's kinematic motion equation.

Inputs: Keyboard Space or Gamepad button A.

Conditions:

- Sliding or touching a wall.

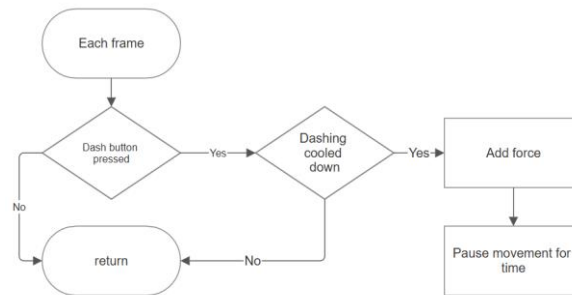

System Behavior:

- A force is applied to the player according to the angle and force set by the parameters.
- A Counter force is applied in the opposite direction to avoid wall jumping far.
- The player's downward force is rest before the jump.

Parameters:

- Wall Jump Force: The force that pushes the player away from the wall (default: 1).
- Angle: The Angle by which the force is applied (default: 30).

Dashing

Purpose: for reaching far platforms.

Description: The Player can perform an 8-way direction (up, down, left, right, up-right , down-left, etc.) using the combination of keyboard keys when using the keyboard and when using the controller, the player dashes in the direction of the input stick. There is a cooldown period between each dash.

Inputs:

- Dashing Direction: Move keys or Gamepad Left Stick.
- Dash Action: Z or Gamepad Button B.

Conditions:

- Dashing must have cooled down.

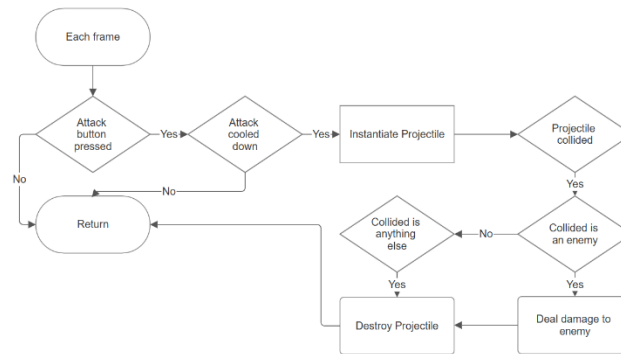

System Behavior:

- The character gets moved towards the direction of the movement keys or the left stick.
- The character stays suspended for a set time to make the dashing more accurate and smoother.

Parameters:

- Dashing Distance: The distance by which the player dashes and forces are calculated accordingly (default: 5).
- Dashing time: How long does the player dash (default: 0.1).
- Dashing pause time: How long does the player stay floating after dashing (default: 0.1).
- Dashing cooldown: How long before the player can dash again (default: 1).

Default Attack Mechanic

Purpose: For dealing damage to enemies.

Description: The player can shoot projectiles that deal damage. The attacks have a cooldown period or in better terms a locked fire rate.

Inputs:

- Shooting: Left mouse click, Gamepad R2.
- Aiming: Mouse position, Gamepad right stick.

Conditions:

- Shooting must have cooled down.

System Behavior:

- A prefab of the projectile is instantiated in the direction of aiming.
- The projectile is destroyed upon touching anything. If the projectile touches an enemy, it deals a set damage.

Parameters:

- Fire Rate: Controls the time between each projectile (default: 0.2).
- Damage: Damage dealt per projectile (default: 10).

4.1.5 Challenges

Enemies:

- The enemies are typically sprayed throughout the level, attacking the player to stop him from completing the level.
- Every act contains minions which are the normal type of enemies the player faces every act they are in most acts of the game. There are 3 to 4 types of enemies.
- Every act contains a mini boss at the end of the act in which the player must face progress to the next act.

Puzzles:

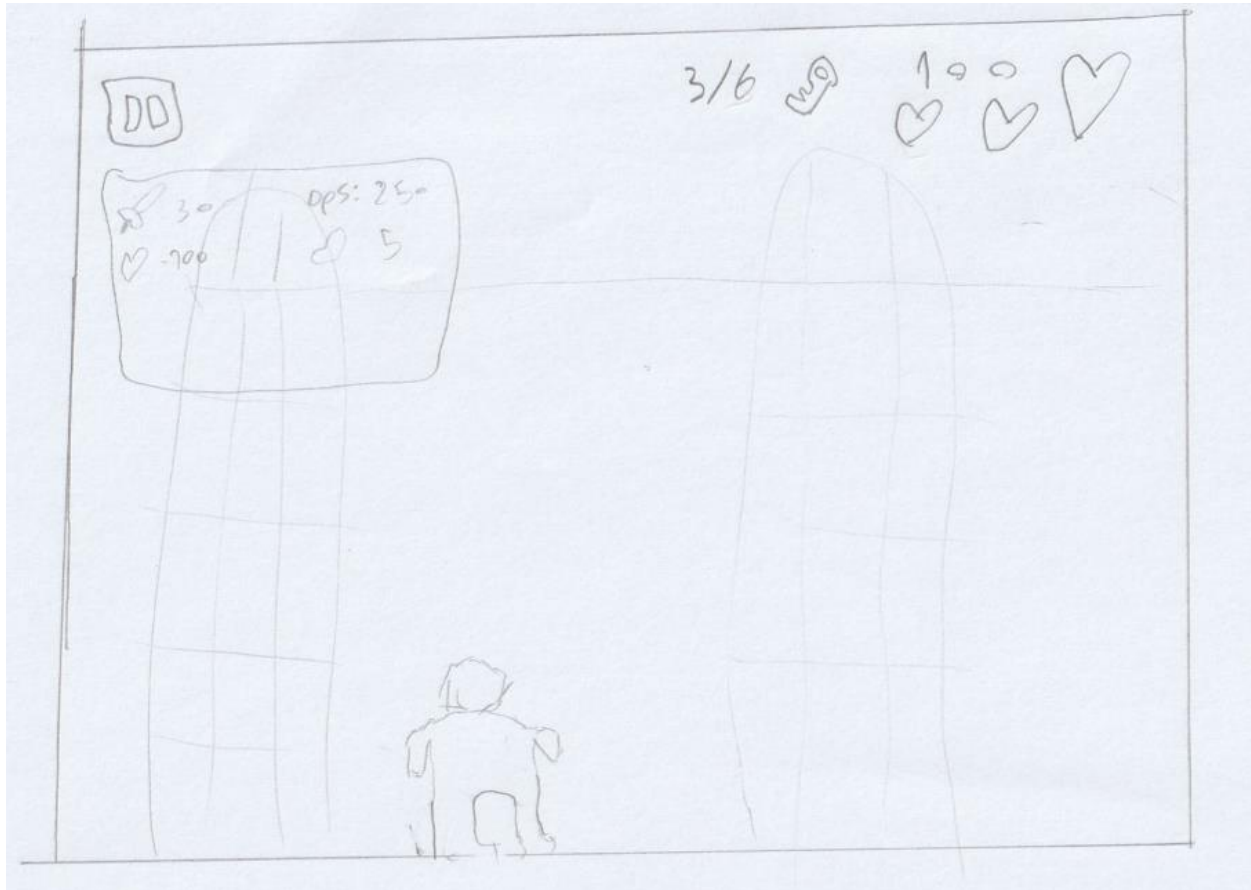

- In some level the player needs to solve a puzzle such as platformer-puzzle and environmental-puzzle to progress the level
- Platformer-puzzle: jumping through platformer, pushing boxes
- Environmental puzzle: finding hidden clues in the environment, searching for hidden doors, etc.

4.1.6 Resources

- Artifacts: The player will collect 6-7 artifacts, collecting one per level after defeating a mini boss. Collecting this artifact will let the player and his friend escape through the level and finally to the real world outside the twisted version of the Bue.

4.1.7 Player Mode Sketches

Main screen for the game

The main Screen consists of a pause button, health for the main heart, number of hearts, number of artifacts and a toggleable window for the player stats on the side.

5. Dynamic Elements

5.1 Game Event Sequence

5.1.1 Prelude

- The game boots up a cutscene, where the 7 are exploring the quiet library, after they've been locked inside, enjoying the thrill of being somewhere they shouldn't, the 7 have all they need, the food, the amenities, and the whole building to themselves, and with the cameras deactivated, they roam freely, enjoying the silence, the freedom. And as time passes, they end up in the lower level of the library, where everything is very scary, but they set up camp in one of the meeting rooms, and as they were checking out books, the quiet staff door suddenly emits a scary sound, which breaks the environmental silence, and scares some members, as they all gather in front of it, the door suddenly starts to change, into a weird, corrupted door. (Door changes in cutscene.)

- As everyone has their own feelings, fear, curiosity, anxiousness, the door starts emitting a weird sound. Aira, being closest to the door, he wants to make sure nothing affects anyone who's standing behind him, and after much tension, curiosity beats him and he moves in front to open the door, and as soon as he opens it, he is dragged inside, and everyone just stands there, with increasing worry, thinking whether or not Aira is playing a prank on them to stir a little chaos. They try knocking but there is no answer. So, after a long while they all stand in front of the door and decide to open it at the same time, which results in them getting swept inside too. (Everyone disappears in cutscene.)

- No.7 comes in later to the same spot he left them as he was using the bathroom, and to his surprise, he finds it empty, with worry also setting in, as the place is dead silent, he spots the weird door and quickly opens it, figuring it's where they all went, which also, sweeps him inside. (Fading transition from normal world to the twisted world.)

5.1.2 The Abyss

- As No.7 passes the door, and he finds himself in a twisted, almost corrupted environment, and as he regains his balance, he finds himself surrounded by eerie sounds, and fear crawling on his back, he slowly recognizes that this place is familiar, it's the university, but in almost a twisted version, nothing is the way it was, but somehow everything is familiar, then he finds some courage to make his way outside, through the broken door, and low and behold, the university he once knew, was a completely overrun place, filled with noises and shadow's of inhuman figures. (The player moves through the environment and interacts with everything to avoid the enemies.)

- He slowly makes his way through the surroundings, not knowing what to do, he feels lost, but his black outfit makes it a nearly perfect stealth cloak for him to move around, and as he sneaks past the monsters, making his way to the side streets, the view beyond the fence looks like an abyss, never ending darkness. (Interactive dialogue with the view, showing a deep dark abyss beyond the fence of the university.)

- As the reality of the situation starts to set in, he moves forward, and he spots a light, a soft light, a figure which he then sprints on, the closer he gets, the louder his heart beats, as he is happy, he finds someone, after looking closer, it's Aira. But he looks weird, a spirit of some sort. Aira comforts him, tells him not to worry as he will accompany him, he tells him his real body is in the auditorium, and to make his way, but to be careful as he will meet unfriendly figures he needs to navigate. Aria helps No.7, guiding him through safe paths, which gives No.7 a spark of confidence and hope for being saved, which lessens his anxiousness, No.7 finally reaches the Auditorium, and finds the air much lighter there, there is less corruption and much more peaceful surroundings. Then the spirit of Aria finally disappears. (As player progresses through, a light cue captures the players' attention, which causes them to discover Aira's spirit, which guides the player through dialogue until he reaches the auditorium.)

5.1.3 Whispering Guidance, Aira Found

- As No.7 steps in the auditorium, he makes his way up the stairs, passing by the destroyed corridors, bodies of lifeless enemies laying on the ground, and as he finally opens the door to the auditorium itself, he finds Aira sitting in the middle of the stage, with most of the chairs destroyed from rubble, and the moonlight falling on the stage, as No.7 makes his way, and he reunites with Aira by a tight hug, which comforts him. But Aira looks nothing like what he was before, No.7 then asks how long he has been here, Aira tells him it's been months, and in a moment of reflection, Aira returns the question, No.7 worriedly says that he's been here roughly an hour. Which shocks Aira. (The player moves through the auditorium, seeing the broken surroundings, and interacting with the door, which leads to the stage and the long dialogue with Aira.)

- Aira then explains that there must be a time difference, since he was the first to enter. He told him he began to experience weird nightmares, trying to survive on his own, and after a while, he began seeing spirits, being able to interact with him, and as more time passed, he realized he manifested a special ability that allowed him to create his own spirits and use his power to fight enemies. By the clear injuries and the blood flowing through his head. He explains that this place was overrun by enemies, which he defeated all, which took about a long time, and he finds himself fighting never-ending enemies, which made him feel the same long feeling he felt for most of his life, the red fear of not being enough. Which quickly made him realize that surroundings trap you somewhere, manifesting your emotional fears or problems. And after overcoming it, and becoming better with his ability, he was able to sense the other 5 spirits of his friends, but they're all motionless, all trapped.
- Aira looks worried, and then they both realize that everyone else must have been trapped in similar way, but they can't seem to escape it. No.7 then asks Aira if he was able to leave this place, where he says yes, but he likes coming here for the moonlight and the floating spirits in the empty space of the stage, it's like real life all over again. No.7 looks down, not knowing what to say or do, then Aira pats his back, telling him that they can figure it out. Aira then breaks the silence, admitting that he couldn't help them himself because he was busy fighting any monsters he can fight, and he looks down, almost not wanting to say what's next, but he admits that his ability, while strong, exerts a toll on his own soul. He explains that his ability draws from his life energy, and the more he uses it, the more it reduces from his life span. Not wanting to risk himself, just in case something happens. (As dialogue progresses, the music switches to a sadder, shocking instrumental.)
- And he points at No.7, telling him that he is the key he needed all along. He then explains how he found him. Earlier, he detected an unfamiliar spirit closer to the library, which pushed Aira to send out a spirit of himself to find it. He exhaled, happy that it was someone he could trust. Aira looks up at him, explaining that he thought this through, to use a portion of his ability, to bind a spirit to No.7, to make him able to see the spirits he sees and guides him to find everyone.

- No.7 agrees, pushing urgency to find everyone and escape this place. Aira puts his hand together and summons a small spirit, then touches No.7's soul, which binds the soul Aira created to him. Then he explains it will always be with him, as a guide, and he will speak to him through it, and slowly the spirits that were once visible to only Aira, can also be seen by No.7, the stage becomes a truly beautiful view. Aira suddenly collapses on the ground, from the strain of using this power. He reassures No.7 that it's all okay and asks him if he sees the spirits of their friends and he nods. Aira then realizes something, No.7's ability is copy. Shockingly enough, he asks him to think of shooting a bullet, which No.7 finds odd, then points at the empty seats, and he imagines shooting bullets, which causes his arm to emit a sky-blue hue then he suddenly shoots ethereal discs that pierce and destroy the seats. No.7 then jumps in excitement, which makes Aira smile, telling him he could copy the power of anyone he interacts with, which will be useful, to help everyone. (Small cutscene where Aira gives the spirit to No.7, and then No.7 uses the ethereal discs destroying the seats.)
- Aira reaches into his pocket, pulling a weird glowing artifact. He explains that he found it in the corpse of an enemy that he killed. He reminds him it has one of the symbols that was visible on the door. And it might be our way out. And he speculated that every person who is trapped, No.7 must defeat a certain enemy to break the emotional manifestation and retrieve the missing piece, and Aira guesses that there are 6 remaining pieces. And that he has a clue where the gateway would be, at the library. Where they were all swept in originally, since his previous efforts to access the library on his own were futile. No.7 nods, accepting responsibility, nodding, comforting Aira that he will do what needs to be done. Aira gets up, giving him a confident handshake. I will meet you at the library after you manage to save at least one person. Then No.7 departs, leaving Aira, and leaving the auditorium, with renewed confidence. (This long dialogue will be shorter in dialogue narrative, and then the player leaves the auditorium, copying Aira's abilities and the first artifact, ending act 1.)

5.1.4 Echoes of Memory, Saving Echo

- As No.7 leaves the auditorium, he locates the first spirit to go to, in the faculty of arts and design, and as he makes his way there, Aira guides him, and No.7 fights the enemies for the first time, using the Ethereal Discs and Spirit Push makes his way to the faculty building, where he
